

AT COUNTRY'S CALL FOR TROOPS REALTY AND ALLIED PROFESSIONS GIVE MANY OF THEIR WELL-KNOWN MEN

Brokerage Offices, Architects, Builders, Lending Institutions and Title Companies Well Represented in Practically Every Militia Organization Called Into Service

If you as a real estate owner were in the middle of a real estate deal which up to a few days ago you had every reason to be hopeful of closing and suddenly negotiations stopped because of the disappearance of your broker you probably will find the reason to be that he has gone off with his regiment to the Mexican frontier. If any business was hit hard by the hasty call for the militia it was that of real estate, for few of the offices in Greater New York but boast of at least one man who has given his services to the country. From some of the larger organizations like the title and mortgage companies from a dozen to twenty men have gone out who are widely known through their intimate association with the local real estate world.

Architects, builders, realty operators and men representing all other branches of the business which has for its object the making of a greater and better city left their desks at the call and now either are near the scene to which the eye of the whole country are turned or are being made ready to go. In addition to these are several hundred men who, having served at one time or another in the State or Federal service and now being in reserve, are giving their efforts to building up the organizations which have been called on for active work.

Patriotism is one of the strong points of the real estate fraternity. There never has been a patriotic movement to which substantial aid has been refused by these men, whose interests, though centered in New York city and its environs, cover practically every State of the Union. The Spanish-American war found thousands of them enrolled throughout the regions which this city sent out, and only as recently as the preparation for the real estate men of the city, represented by brokers, operators, architects, builders, title companies and lending institutions, met and material dealers, turned out solidly, little thinking that within a comparatively few days many of them would be called on to actually bear arms for the country.

Like many concerns whose men have gone out, most of the real estate firms and corporations have notified their employees that regular salaries will be paid during the time the men are away. For some concerns to do this is an especial mark of patriotism, for it is well known that the real estate business has been through a period of great depression, during which so little money has been made in most offices that to pay salaries to men who have gone away will entail real sacrifice.

The total of men in the real estate and allied professions who have gone to the border or who are ready to go, probably amount to several thousand. The SUN in an effort to learn the names of these men has had reports from a number of offices. These are the men they have sent to the border or who are ready to go:
